

Use this space to write a diary entry as though you're one of your ancestors. Maybe they lived through an amazing event in history, or just think about how their daily life might have been different to your own. It's up to you!